

The Standard.

William Glasmann, Publisher.
AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER.
(Established 1870.)

This paper will always fight for progress and reform, it will not knowingly tolerate injustice or corruption and will always fight demagogues of all parties. It will oppose privileged classes and public plunderers. It will never lack sympathy with the poor. It will always remain devoted to the public welfare and will never be satisfied with merely printing news. It will always be drastically independent and will never be afraid to attack wrong, whether committed by the rich or the poor.

The official paper of Ogden City and Weber County. All legal notices authorized by law to be published by said city and county will appear exclusively in the Evening Standard.

WITHOUT FALSE PRIDES.

A writer in Woman's World declares he is not ashamed to be human. He is Dr. Frank Crane and this is how he expresses his love of that which is natural:

"Whatever else I may be ashamed of, let me not be ashamed of being human. I may well blush for my little store of knowledge, for it might have been greater; and for my imperfect wisdom, which might have been sounder; for my sins, that might have been fewer; and for my righteousness which is paltry enough.

"For excesses, lacks and want of balance, I may be justly blamed, but for any genuine human feeling I have no right to hang my head. So I dare say, frankly, that I love to eat and to drink. I love woman and the child. I love my slippers and a chat with good company. I love adventure and the shining sail. I love a rousing book, a clever play and a fair fight.

"And whatever pride or joy is built upon the contempt of others, I hate. The best part of the heritage the twentieth century brings me is the privilege of being wholly human and not ashamed of it."

CURB MARKETS BEING ESTABLISHED.

Los Angeles has what is known as curb markets, conducted by the city under a "superintendent of markets." One of the Los Angeles papers has this to say of the new movement:

"There seems to be no doubt that those already established have been a success, and despite organized and determined opposition. If others can be established at no further expense, or only nominal expense, the people should have the benefits that are shown to come as the result of the city serving as middleman.

"For a city of such expense as Los Angeles the right policy has been adopted in the creation of the market system. Anything like a central enterprise compelling people to go many miles was of doubtful utility. The plan to take the markets as near as possible to the homes could hardly fail of success, and the popularity of the steps already taken should occasion no surprise, since the prices have been attractive to the thrifty.

"An increase in the number of markets and in the territory they cover involves nice questions of adjustment between demand and supply so that the attendance of both housewife and farmer shall be made profitable.

"We are on a fair road to work out a 'Los Angeles way' in the solution of the high-cost problem, and as far as the steps give a reasonable promise of greater success they should be supported."

The Standard is studying the Los Angeles system and soon will present the results of its investigation.

WHY THEY OPPOSE THE INITIATIVE.

President Taft does not think well of the initiative, principally because Roosevelt has spoken in favor of that doctrine. Now the Republican papers of the country are echoing Taft's objections, which causes the Logan Journal to say:

The Deseret News joins other Republican organs in expression of the belief that the initiative must fail because the masses have not sufficient intelligence to properly use it, citing in proof that in Provo and elsewhere, some who had signed petitions asking for a resubmission to the voters of the wet and dry question, afterward withdrew their names, making the claim that they did not know what they were signing. To assume that a majority of citizens belong to the "know nothing" class, because a few are ignorant, or weak enough and succumb to subsequent pressure and repudiate their voluntary acts, substantiates the Republican theory that the people are not qualified for self-government, and that law-making is a class function to be performed only by the elect few. It is a reiteration of the "rich and well born" theory, and a repudiation of democracy.

LOBSTERS NORTH OF THE GREAT SALT LAKE.

North of Ogden and west of Willard is a large body of water that varies from fresh to salt water, according to the distance from the point of mingling of the waters of the river and the Great Salt Lake.

The government is planning to transplant the eastern lobster in the waters of the Pacific ocean and beginning this year, carloads of female lobsters from the eastern hatcheries are to be shipped through Ogden to San Francisco.

One carload might be placed on the edge of the fresh water that forms the north fringe of the Great Salt Lake. Since the construction of the Ogden Lucin cutoff there is a large area of water near the mouth of the Bear river, containing about the same proportion of salt as the ocean. That should be a favorable spot for lobster cultivation.

ENGLISH WOULD NOT FIGHT FOR JAPAN.

The English papers suddenly have discovered that, if war were to break out between the United States and Japan, Great Britain's offensive and defensive alliance with the Mikado would embarrass the English beyond measure.

"The prospect of a war in which Great Britain would be fighting for a principle that is an anathema to her own dominions," says the London Spectator, "is causing much anxiety throughout the British empire."

Although it believes the possibility of war's breaking out or of Great Britain's being a party to it through her alliance with Japan to be vague, the Spectator declares:

"We doubt whether the empire could survive such an outrage to the feelings of a large and important part of its white population."

The Saturday Review is somewhat jealous of America and advises Great Britain to stand by the alliance, "because America is working for supremacy in the Pacific on lines that are unfriendly both to Great Britain and Japan."

The government of Great Britain might follow that advice, but the people would never respond to calls to arms in such a conflict of the Asiatic against a country in which English blood has played so important a part.

But, what is equally important, there would be considerable danger to England's future involved in an attack on the United States. A war with this country might cripple England's foreign trade, upon which that country's very existence depends.

Furthermore, the English colonies, particularly Canada and Australia, never would sanction an imperial policy, the success of which would imperil their own security by opening their doors to the Asiatic hordes.

MAY FESTIVAL SHOULD BE WELL ADVERTISED

The May festival at the School for the Deaf and Blind was so great a success as to inspire the hope that around this annual event at the state institution may be built a May Day festival which would include all talent in Ogden and bring to this city the people of the entire state.

There were hundreds present last evening from Salt Lake and elsewhere and they were delighted with the entertainment. Professor Jacob Bollin of the University of Utah, after seeing the dances of the children, declared the ace of diamonds and the Otago polka of the folk dances were wonderful, and he is a most competent critic, being the university's instructor in physical culture. Some of those present freely stated that the dancing of the deaf and blind was a revelation, and many of the primary teachers of the Mormon church from distant points, who came up from the convention in Salt Lake, said the festival was the most impressive thing they had seen on their journey away from home.

This May festival should be shared with the people of the entire state and the Standard is in favor of the Weber club taking up the publicity and next year in order to widely advertise this delightful educational treat.

WORLD'S MARKETS

WALL STREET.

New York, May 24.—Stocks barely moved when trading was begun today. Most of the leaders were lower by small fractions. Pennsylvania touched a new low figure at 109 1/2, Canadian Pacific opened with a sale of 1,000 shares at 23 1/2 to 23 3/4, a maximum decline of two points. St. Louis and San Francisco, second preferred, which has been especially weak recently, rose 5-8.

11 a. m.—Expectations of an early announcement of a Harriman separation agreement caused heavy buying of Southern Pacific and Union Pacific, which lifted them one and two points respectively. The whole market was benefited by their show of strength. Louisville gained 2 1/2 and active issues half a point or more.

Close: The market closed strong. The early rise in Union Pacific and Southern Pacific proved to be the beginning of a general forward movement. Bear operators were taken unawares by the manifestation of strength, following yesterday's improvement. Recent movements have been alternately up and down, and on the assumption that today would witness a reversal of yesterday's advance, traders sold at the commencement of business. Accumulation of the Harriman shares, especially Union Pacific, on a large scale gave rise to a more general belief that a solution of the problem involved in the separation of the system was at hand. The impetus lent by the upturn in these stocks permeated the list, even the St. Louis and San Francisco issues rallied after temporary weakness. Union Pacific rose 3 points. Southern Pacific 2 and other standard stocks one to two points.

Bonds were firm.

Take Notice of Your Collars

We have recently installed one of the NEW PROSPERITY COLLAR MOULDERS.

This machine moulds your turn-over collars to the proper shape. There is no rub or friction on the edge; hence your collars will last much longer than when done in the ordinary way.

The top edge of the collar, where it is turned over, is not sharp but is slightly rounded. More space is given all along between the inside and outside of the collar. Thus you will find there is ample tie space, and it is easy to adjust the tie to proper position. It makes the tie easy in any collar.

Notice the smooth edge—every collar just the same. A collar with a rough edge is an impossibility.

You will be doing your friends a favor by telling them about our perfect collar work.
